FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASHINGTON, DC – January 5, 2012 – The Coalition for Government Procurement (“Coalition”) is pleased to announce the launch of its new procurement policy blog, *FAR and Beyond*. The blog focuses on issues relevant to federal procurement, including contract pricing, Other Direct Costs (ODCs), contract duplication, small business, and the Federal budget.

Roger Waldron, President of the Coalition and main contributor to the blog said, “Through FAR and Beyond I look forward to engaging in a thoughtful public discussion addressing key procurement challenges and helping to identify positive solutions that contribute to productivity, effectiveness and efficiency of the procurement system.”

The launch of FAR and Beyond coincides with the unveiling of the Coalition’s newly redesigned website and replaces the previous “Coalition Comment of the Week” feature. The refreshed web presence of the Coalition will help allow the organization to increase knowledge sharing and interactivity with members, as well as others in the government contracting community and the general public. ### About the Coalition for Government Procurement

The Coalition was founded in 1979 to advocate a common sense approach to government contracting. The Coalition is the only organization specifically representing the well being of government contractors whose contracts are administered by GSA, regardless of the industry or size of the company. With over 300 member companies, the Coalition represents 70% of all commercial services and products sold to the federal government each year. For more information on the Coalition, membership, events and opportunities visit the CGP’s website www.thecgp.org, follow us on Twitter or find us on Facebook.
