

John Shoraka is co-founder and Managing Director of GovContractPros. In this role, John assists small business government contractors in all phases of their business lifecycle including navigation of the federal marketplace, business development, certification for and compliance with small business set-aside programs, teaming and mentor-protégé arrangements, and financing and acquisition.

John Shoraka is the former Associate Administrator of Government Contracting and Business Development at the U.S. Small Business Administration. In this capacity, he was responsible for overseeing the federal government's small business set-aside programs. John's responsibilities included the 8(a) Business Development program, HUBZone, WOSB, and SDVOSB programs. He was responsible for the Office of Size Standards, the federal government's small business goaling program, as well as the federal government's small business prime and subcontracting programs.